Our brilliant faculty are more than educators. They are the most influential minds in their fields. They are the curious, the explorers, the innovators. They create the new knowledge that moves humankind forward.

Endowed chairs and professorships enable Stony Brook to compete for and retain these leading scholars, their highly coveted research funding, and in turn the talented students who aspire to work alongside them.

This is why we’re determined to complete The Campaign for Stony Brook with a goal of 100 endowed faculty positions by 2018.

To learn more about how you can associate your name with research and teaching that matters most to you, visit StonyBrook.Edu/100TopMinds.