

The Three Village Historical Society
In cooperation with the Long Island History Journal (LIHJ) and Stony Brook University
Presents

Pastries & Patriots

A Program of Lectures at Stony Brook University on the Theme
The American Revolution on Long Island and in New York City
October 4, 2010

- 8:45 AM Continental Breakfast
- 9:10 AM Welcome: Elizabeth Kahn Kaplan, Spies! Project, Three Village Historical Society
- 9:15 AM The Long Island History Journal: Wolf Schäfer, Publisher, Professor of History, and Director of the Center for Global & Local History, Stony Brook University
- 9:30 AM George Washington, Unconventional Soldier: Edward G. Lengel, Associate Professor of History, University of Virginia, and Editor-in-Chief of The Papers of George Washington Project, is the author of General George Washington: A Military Life (2005) and This Glorious Struggle: George Washington's Revolutionary War Letters (2007).
- 10:30 AM Break
- 10:45 AM The Prisoners of War of Occupied New York City, 1776-1783: Edwin G. Burrows, Professor of History, Brooklyn College, City University of New York, and Pulitzer-Prize-winning co-author of Gotham: A History of New York City to 1898, will present The Prisoners of War of Occupied New York City, 1776-1783.
- 11:45 AM Concluding remarks: Participants
- 12:00 Noon. Kristen Nyitray, Head, Special Collections and University Archives, Stony Brook University, will guide those who wish to the library, where two letters about the Culper Spy Ring, signed by George Washington on 24 September 1779 and 16 September 1780, will be on view. Ms. Nyitray will be available to answer questions.

The Three Village Historical Society, LIHJ, and Stony Brook University, co-sponsors of this event, acknowledge that this program was made possible, in part, through a matching grant from the New York Council for the Humanities, supported by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the New York State Legislature. Any views, findings, conclusions or recommendations expressed in this program do not necessarily represent those of the National Endowment for the Humanities.