The Department of Africana Studies presents

Rodney Leon

The role of architecture in preservation of truth and memory

Wednesday, February 28th
4:00PM in SBS S224,
The Richard B. Moore Library

Rodney Leon, founder and principal of Rodney Leon Architects PLLC, is the designer of the African Burial Ground Memorial in New York City which is the only National Monument in the United States dedicated to the contributions of people of African descent as well as the UN Slavery monument (which he won the global competition in which over 100 architects competed). Mr. Leon has focused his architectural career in modern “Culturally Contextual” design, Master Planning and Mixed Use Housing Development for faith based and international development organizations. His current projects include the Gospel Assembly Church, the King Emmanuel Baptist Church Senior Housing and Community Center and the historic Convent Avenue Baptist Church expansion. In addition, Mr. Leon is also partnering with manufacturers to design and implement sustainable “Green” housing development models for emerging global economies. Mr. Leon received his Bachelor of Architecture degree from Pratt Institute School of Architecture in 1992 and his Masters of Architecture from Yale University in 1995. He has also been a Visiting Design professor at Pratt Institute School of Architecture from 1998 to 2003, where he has also taught design since 2003.

Celebrating 50 years of Africana Studies at Stony Brook University

This program is co-sponsored by the Department of History and the Humanities Institute