S tony Brook offers students the opportunity to study for two weeks in Rome, the eternal city, known for its classical architecture such as the Colosseum and The Forum. This study abroad program, established more than 30 years ago, enables participants to gain first-hand knowledge of contemporary Italy while fulfilling Stony Brook Curriculum, upper-division and/or major/minor requirements.

The curriculum offers students an understanding of Italian history, politics, and culture. In conjunction with classes, visits will be made to the city’s artistic and historical landmarks such as St. Peter's Cathedral and Piazza di Spagna. Planned group excursions include Venice, Assisi, Florence, Naples, Capri, Pompeii, the Amalfi Coast and Tivoli.

“Be open to new things when studying abroad. It’s an enlightening experience. When you learn to accept that you’re out of your comfort zone, you can learn to appreciate both your culture and the other culture and the way of living.”

— KELLY SMITH, WINTER 2015

UNDERGRADUATE HONORS COURSES OFFERED

Participants will register for a total of 4 credits. All participants following the Stony Brook Curriculum (SBC) will fulfill GLO and EXP+ in addition to requirement(s) fulfilled by their coursework.

HON 110: The Unsung Treasures of Rome

Students will be required to take personal or group photographs at several sights that, while off the beaten path, are significant to Rome’s History. In addition to these photos, students must write short paragraphs explaining the importance of each location they visit. A list of sights will be provided to students during the program. (1 credit)

HON 201: The Time of the Art and the Time in the Art

Gertrude Stein, in her lecture on “Composition as Explanation,” writes, “It is understood by this that everything is the same except composition and time, composition and the time of the composition and the time in the composition.” This course will explore the ramifications of Stein’s statement using the art and other sights visited in Rome. Readings will include theories of time, art history, aesthetics and others as needed. Students will prepare presentations for class and maintain a journal to be submitted during the course of the semester. (3 credits)
