Dr. Zeitlin (Yale University Ph. D.) is a Professor of Anthropology at the University of Massachusetts Boston. Trained as a prehistoric archaeologist, she turned her attention subsequently to the complex entanglements between Native peoples and the Spanish colonial state. Combining the tools of historical archaeology and documentary research, her work has focused on the indigenous, primarily Zapotec-speaking communities of the southern Isthmus of Tehuantepec, Mexico. Her recent publications include Cultural Politics in Colonial Tehuantepec: Community and State Among the Isthmus Zapotec, 1500-1750 (Stanford University Press, 2005) and, co-edited with Laura Machuca Gallegos, Representando el pasado y el presente del istmo oaxaqueño (CIESAS, 2014).
