Jason Oliver Chang is Assistant Professor of History and Asian American Studies at the University of Connecticut, Storrs. At UConn he is an affiliated faculty member with the Institute of Latinx, Caribbean, and Latin American Studies and the Associate Director of the Asian and Asian American Studies Institute. He is the author of Chino: Anti-Chinese Racism in Mexico, 1880-1940 and co-author of Asian America: A Primary Source Reader (with Cathy J. Schlund-Vials, K. Scott Wong). Jason’s current work rewrites Asian American history from the perspective of Chinese, South Asian and Filipino sailors to trace racial formations in the inter-imperial space of the world’s oceans.

Part of the Humanities Institute at Stony Brook theme year, "Dissent: Currents and Counter-Currents". Co-sponsored by the Confucius Institute and HISB. See our website www.stonybrook.edu/hisb
