Practical Professional Skills Series

A series designed to promote dialogue around fundamental issues affecting professionals in all types of organizations. Led by discussion leaders with knowledge of the subject matter, each 90 minute lunch series will cover a range of topics within a broad theme. Taken as a whole, these themes represent key issues affecting most professionals today. The goal of our 2nd annual series is to raise awareness among graduate students and postdocs about the fundamental skills they need in: financial management, dealing with difficult people and work/life balance.

Financial Fitness for Graduate Students and Postdocs

MONDAY, DECEMBER 14, 2015 - 12:30-2:00PM
WANG CENTER ROOM 201 – LUNCH WILL BE PROVIDED

This seminar will address the financial challenges that graduate students and postdocs face along with tips and advice on how to overcome them. Financial specialists will cover a broad range of topics including budgeting and saving, student loans, debt management, retirement planning and general tax issues related to fellowships, scholarships, international taxes and more. Join us for this informative workshop and get on the road to financial fitness!

SPEAKERS

Stephen Baumeister
Senior Financial Consultant
Field Consulting Group
TIAA-CREF Financial Services

Barry Soloway
President
Tax Consultant
Soloway Agency

Renee Pelletier
Senior Financial Advisor &
Financial Literacy and Default
Management Specialist
Stony Brook University