BIAS CRIMES
Stop Bias Now
Universities, particularly public universities, have the responsibility to provide leadership in enlightened social behavior. As SUNY’s premier university center, Stony Brook University is doubly obligated to express a supportive and diverse environment. Central to this process is respect for an acceptance of those from different backgrounds. Our society is still far from the just and equitable ideal that it seeks to achieve. Stony Brook University can play an important role in advancing that goal. As a university, we cannot permit behavior that violates the rights of others.

Bias related crimes will not be tolerated on the Stony Brook campus. We urge you to familiarize yourself with the following information and encourage your support of accomplishing our goals.

Types of Bias Incidents:
- Stereotypes
- Discrimination
- Prejudice
- Racism
- Religious Bigotry
- Anti-Semitism
- Sexism
- Heterosexism
- Scapegoating

The effects of bias crimes are more devastating that other crimes because they have detrimental emotional and/or psychological impacts on the victim and his or her community.
