FOR THE FIELD
INTERNSHIP EXPERIENCE PROPOSAL

FOR THE SDBL

Stony Brook University
INTRODUCTION

OVERVIEW OF THE INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

The Educational Leadership Internship is defined as the process and product that result from the application in a workplace environment of the strategic, instructional, organizational and contextual leadership program standards. It is strategically designed to immerse candidates in educational experiences that support and rely upon the information and skills attained from courses taken in the program.

The internship includes a variety of substantial concurrent or capstone experiences in diverse settings planned and guided cooperatively by university and school district personnel and conducted in schools and school districts over an extended period of time. The experiences need to provide interns with substantial responsibilities in fiscal accountability, which involve direct interaction and involvement with staff, parents, community leaders, and social service organizations involved with inter-agency activities affecting schools. Fiscal accountability in a school district is important in that it provides for the efficient use of resources to support the educational program and the preservation of the assets of the school district.

The experiences within the internship should immerse candidates in activities that will prepare them for the roles and responsibilities of a School District Business Leader (SDBL). The overall goal of the internship will be to structure these field experiences so candidates gain proficiency in the six ISLLC leadership standards and four New York State business leader competencies found on p. 4.

As your SDL and SBL counterparts are learning to become effective instructional leaders, your internship will develop your capabilities to:

1. Create the proper financial and operational conditions through strategic planning that will enable teachers to teach and students to learn by enhancing district and school capacity.
2. Work with district leaders, building leaders, the board of education, and other key educational stakeholders to identify and allocate resources to help build a school system and district wide educational program that will endure and be successful.
3. Manage financial and material resources carefully and ethically, in order to support the development and implementation of the educational vision.
4. Gather and analyze financial and other pertinent data to identify problems, propose solutions, and verify accomplishments.
5. Communicate clearly and effectively to a variety of audiences, using appropriate tools and formats, to achieve clarity and address questions.

The purpose of the Internship Seminar is to facilitate the blending of practical field experiences with academic learning “in a forum for sharing insights, understanding and developing problem solving and decision making skills, and practicing collaborative problem solving among the interns” (Veir, 1990).
THE PERSONAL PROFILE

An effective internship must recognize the uniqueness of each intern. The selection and development of comprehensive activities must address individual needs, strengths, areas of weakness, past experiences, and academic preparation. Designing an appropriate individualized internship will, therefore, maximize personal and professional growth and development.

As a result of taking coursework in the Educational Leadership Program you should have increased your proficiency in the professional knowledge, skills and dispositions reflected in the ISLLC leadership standards and New York State business leader competencies. To aid in the design of your internship, answer each question below as they relate to whom you are as an educational business leader. Keep the answers to these questions firmly in mind as you work with administrators within the responsibilities, tasks and projects that will become your complete internship experience.

A finished copy of your Personal Profile must be submitted with your Internship proposal. (Make your Personal Profile 5 separate sections.)

1. Reflect on your present level of proficiency in each of the six ISLLC leadership standards (found on page 4). Arrange them in rank order from the one you have become the most proficient in (#1), to the standard you have mastered the least (#6). Do the same for the four New York State business leader competencies also found on page 4.
2. Discuss the importance of moral and ethical behavior in educational leadership.
3. How have past experiences influenced your values and ideas about leadership?
4. How have the strong and weak points of your academic preparation through Stony Brook influenced your present level of proficiency in the six ISLLC leadership standards and four New York State business leader competencies?
5. What specific needs or goals do you have for doing this internship experience?

STRUCTURE OF THE INTERNSHIP

The internship consists of a minimum of 460 logged hours of building and district level business administration/supervisory experiences. This is to be accomplished in two semesters. The student has the choice of doing the internship during a summer/fall or spring/summer set of semesters.

The six ISLLC leadership standards and four New York State business leader competencies listed on page 4 will guide and support your internship experience toward the SDBL certification. While you have explored these concepts and their application within your coursework, it is time to manifest them through authentic work in one or more school districts.
ISLLC LEADERSHIP STANDARDS

Standard 1.0: An education leader promotes the success of every student by facilitating the development, articulation, implementation, and stewardship of a vision of learning that is shared and supported by all stakeholders.

Standard 2.0: An education leader promotes the success of every student by advocating, nurturing, and sustaining a school culture and instructional program conducive to student learning and staff professional growth.

Standard 3.0: Candidates who complete the program are educational leaders who have the knowledge and ability to promote the success of all students by ensuring management of the organization, operation, and resources for a safe, efficient, and effective learning environment.

Standard 4.0: Candidates who complete the program are educational leaders who have the knowledge and ability to promote the success of all students by collaborating with faculty and community members, responding to diverse community interests and needs, and mobilizing community resources.

Standard 5.0: Candidates who complete the program are educational leaders who have the knowledge and ability to promote the success of all students by acting with integrity, fairly, and in an ethical manner.

Standard 6.0: Candidates who complete the program are educational leaders who have the knowledge and ability to promote the success of all students by understanding, responding to, and influencing the larger political, social, economic, legal, and cultural context.

NEW YORK STATE BUSINESS LEADER COMPETENCIES

1. Supporting the district educational vision.
2. Supporting change and sustainability in the district.
3. Overseeing district financial and physical resources.
4. Administering human and support resources to support learning goals.
SDBL INTERNSHIP IN OPERATION

There is agreement that preparation programs must move beyond the case studies and simulations employed solely in the past and generate a problem-based approach that would use real data and focus on developing competency in the real-life knowledge and skills needed for effective school leadership (New York State Board of Regents, 2003; Browne-Ferrigno & Muth, 2001; Capasso & Daresh, 2001; Morgan, Hertzog & Gibbs, 2002; Bottoms & O’Neill, 2001; Kraus, 1996; Bartell, 1994; Hoachlander, Alt & Beltranena, 2001; Perreault & Lunenburg, 2002). More importantly, if these authentic experiences are constructed properly, not only will the intern benefit greatly from the experience, but the sponsoring school district will ultimately be able to deliver better services to its students (Capasso & Daresh, 2001), creating a win-win situation where mutual benefit exists (Covey, 1990).

GENERAL GUIDELINES FOR THE SDBL INTERNSHIP

1. The underlying goal of the SDBL internship is to help you become proficient in the six ISLLC leadership standards and four New York State business leader competencies found on page 4.
2. This is not an academic exercise. Your work in the internship must involve authentic situations.
3. Detailed reports must be submitted at the end of the internship. This will be explained at the first seminar.
4. All work generated within your internship should demonstrate your knowledge of, and proficiency in computer technology and associated applications (i.e.: PowerPoint, spread sheets, etc.)

The work of school district business leaders is comprehensive and encompasses all aspects of the educational system. School district business leaders find themselves at the pivotal position of supporting, or spearheading efforts to sustain or improve educational programs, district and school capacity, problem solving, all facets of change, physical resources, support services, personnel management, etc.

No one, two, or three projects could ever hope to be the vehicle for training candidates in all these areas. The specific roles and responsibilities of the SDBL are so detailed that immersed work is required to properly and effectively prepare potential candidates. The New York State Education Department has identified seventy-five (75) performance standards that emanate out of the four business leader competencies listed on page 4. They represent the actual roles and responsibilities pursuant to being an effective SDBL.

It naturally follows that an appropriate SDBL internship should be one that ensures that candidates become proficient in all 75 performance standards. Therefore, it is the responsibility of the intern to work with both building and district level administrators with the goal of becoming proficient in these 75 standards.
We anticipate that as interns work with many administrators, actual projects and tasks will be assigned which will enable the intern to work on, and become proficient in a number of performance standards at the same time. In other words, interns will not have to work on 75 separate tasks.

The intern, SBU intern supervisor, and cooperating administrator will all oversee this endeavor; however, it will be the responsibility of the cooperating administrator to sign-off on each performance standard when the intern has proven proficiency. This can simply take the form of an ongoing “check-off sheet” (which begins on page 9).

Below are the specific sub-elements found within the 6 ISLLC leadership standards that are pertinent to the work of a SDBL. These can also be used to clarify for interns those areas requiring attention throughout the internship.

___ Demonstrating knowledge of skills and criteria for evaluating, selecting, and implementing districtwide data management technology and systems.

NASBO GATES

NASBO believes that all business interns should be competent in specific tasks or “gates”. As the SDBL intern meets with business officials within the school district, it would be wise to ensure that the following tasks are built into the overall SDBL internship. These tasks will obviously align with specific NY State Business Leader Competencies listed above. The intern supervisor should oversee that this is accomplished.

Gate #1: The intern must utilize the OGS web site navigating state contracts for procurement.

Gate #2: The intern must prepare a Statement of Cash Flows.

Gate #3: The intern must participate in the budgeting process from start to finish as the intern supervisor deems appropriate.

Gate #4: The intern must prepare supporting documents for STAC forms and prepare reconciliations of receivables of State Aid for students with special needs.

Gate #5: The intern must become familiar with accounting software. At a minimum the intern should have “read-only” access to navigate the software.

Gate #6: The intern must research alternate health insurance plans and develop strategies for negotiations.

Gate #7: The intern must project salaries and benefits for a period of at least three years and present a paper depicting the impact of the projections on future budgets.

Gate #8: The intern must review auditor reports and become familiar with preparation of financial statements and year end accounting.

Gate #9: The intern must analyze and evaluate the school lunch program.

Gate #10: The intern must analyze and evaluate the transportation program.
APPLYING FOR THE INTERNSHIP

STEP 1: INTERNSHIP ELIGIBILITY

The student must submit a copy of his/her unofficial transcript from the SolarSystem to verify eligibility. (27 credits must be completed before the internship begins) This must be accompanied with the Internship Application found on page 16. This form will verify the endorsement of the district superintendent and the cooperating administrator. The superintendent’s signature verifies that he/she is allowing you to see, hear and be part of confidential information normally not reserved for teachers or members of the greater community. Both items must be promptly submitted to the USB Coordinator of Internships.

STEP 2: SELECTING A COOPERATING ADMINISTRATOR

After the candidate selects a school district for the proposed internship experience a cooperating administrator must be chosen. Although the intern will be working with many administrators, only one cooperating administrator can be selected to oversee the entire internship experience. This should be an administrator that the candidate feels comfortable with, can confide in, and feels confident that this person can provide the adequate mentoring required over time.

The role of cooperating administrators as the critical guide throughout the experiential learning process has been the focus of numerous studies (Daresh, 1995, 1997, Huling-Austin, 1992, Playko, 1991, Crocker & Harris, 2002, Malone, 2001). The research has shown that there is a direct relationship between a successful internship and an effective mentor. Choosing the right administrator to serve as your mentor is a critical and important step in designing your internship and will certainly improve the probability of having a quality experience.

First, here are a few quotes regarding the mentoring process that will help guide your thinking as you choose an effective mentor.

Mentoring is a “comprehensive effort directed toward helping a mentee develop the attitudes and behaviors of self-reliance and accountability within a defined environment” (Kay, 1992).

The work of a mentor should be grounded in a learner-centered approach. “One of the principal reasons that mentoring relationships fail is that the learning process is not tended to and the focus on learning goals is not maintained” (Zachary, 2000).
STEP 3: THE INTERNSHIP PROPOSAL

The items found in the chart on the next page must be submitted to the USB Coordinator of Internships by the date announced at the orientation meeting. Use this chart as a check for yourself that the items are submitted properly. No hours can be logged until all items have been submitted and approved by the USB Coordinator of Internships. You will receive official notification by e-mail when you may begin logging hours. Once the USB Coordinator of Internships has verified eligibility, the intern may begin working in the field to become proficient in the 75 performance standards previously listed in this document.

IMPLEMENTING THE INTERNSHIP

Once the Internship Proposal has been approved the intern can begin to engage in the planned educational experiences using the official start date. The intern, the USB intern supervisor assigned to the intern, and the district cooperating administrator work together as a team to ensure the effective implementation of the SDBL internship. If problems do arise during the internship, the intern can call upon the USB intern supervisor and/or the Coordinator of Internships as advocates.

THE INTERNSHIP LOG

During the internship the intern is expected to maintain a BiWeekly Log (found on the next page). After the intern and cooperating administrator sign-off on the accuracy of the entries, the log is submitted to the USB intern supervisor at the biweekly internship seminar.

THE REFLECTIVE JOURNAL

The purpose of the Reflective Journal is to take time to step back and analyze decisions, actions and thoughts related to your work as an administrator. To improve performance, self-assessment needs to become an integral part of the routine. The intern must make weekly entries into this journal for the purpose of self-evaluation. The cooperating administrator and the USB intern supervisor may ask to review events found in the journal. Journal entries will be required to be posted in the on-line portfolio.

In writing a journal entry, describe a situation through the, who, what, when, where model. Analyze why the situation occurred or why those involved made the decisions they did. Discuss the relationships affected by the situation or decision and appraise the impact of the situation or decision on the school environment. Address the effectiveness of the decision and how operations or management will be improved.

OTHER INTERNSHIP REQUIREMENTS

Specific assignments for each item below will be distributed at the first seminar class.
1. Each intern will be formally observed once by the USB intern supervisor.
2. Each intern will attend 2 School Board meetings and write a 2-3 page critique on each meeting.
3. Each intern will complete 2 clinical observations with appropriate write-ups.
4. Each intern is encouraged to attend a minimum of 2 ASBO luncheons.
5. Each intern is encouraged to attend the spring ASBO conference.
6. Each intern will maintain an electronic portfolio. This comprehensive document will highlight the detailed experiences accomplished within the internship. It will represent a complete portrait of the intern’s understanding of the conceptual aspects of leadership within the ISLLC standards.

ASSESSING THE INTERNSHIP EXPERIENCE

A number of assessment tools will be employed at the end of the internship to determine the level of proficiency attained in each of the ISLLC leadership standards and NYS business leader competencies. These assessments will relate to the above internship requirements and determine if the intern has learned the knowledge, skills, and dispositions necessary in becoming an effective school district business leader.

Specific details regarding student evaluation/grading, and the assessment tools that will be employed, will be explained in detail at the first seminar.
