Presents

Wong Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest

Thursday, April 10, 2008, 7:00 pm, Wang Theatre

Incisive writer and performer Kristina Wong mixes sharp humor and psychology in this swear-to-god-not-autobiographical, serio-comic portrayal of the high incidence of anxiety, depression and mental illness among Asian American women. Tangling, spinning, and mixing yarns, she asks: Which came first—the sky-high suicides of Asian American women? The maddening world? And when the heck do we get to climax?

“Wong’s work is compelling because it is, by turns, confrontational and candid, acerbic and guileless, cartoonish and so razor sharp it draws blood. Plus she masterfully uses ambiguity to provoke thought.”
– NY Arts Magazine

Knitters—cuckoo and not—are invited to knit in the audience during the shows. Post performance discussion with Karina Kim, University Counseling, and Frances Wong, Asian Services, St. Vincent’s Hospital.

In collaboration with Organization of Chinese Americans (Long Island and National), Allstate Foundation and Asian American Center Bridge.

With support from the Suffolk County Office of Minority Affairs Asian American Advisory Board, Asian Students Coalition, and the Department of Asian and Asian American Studies.
