

International Occupational
Therapist,
Frank Kronenberg

Practice Without Borders

'Not confusing the finger for the moon'

Wednesday April 1st
6:30 - 8:00 PM
Wang Center Theater
Stony Brook University

Stony Brook Students and Faculty Free

Non Stony Brook Students $ 15.00

Non Stony Brook Faculty $ 25.00

Discussing his experiences in Africa, Asia and Latin America, using a "Health Promotion Without Borders" approach, Occupational Therapist Frank Kronenberg will provide an in-depth exploration of who we are and what we stand (up) for as international practice professionals, scholars, and activists. This talk will address the following three questions:

- 1. Personally, what do you most value to be and to do?
- 2. Professionally, what do you most value to be and to do?
- 3. Politically, what 'good fights' (conflict and cooperation situations) do you strategically engage in to put into practice that which you value most?

Sponsored by:

School of Health Technology and Management
Occupational Therapy Program
Latin American and Caribbean Studies Program
Center for Medical Humanities, Compassionate Care and Bioethics
Provost's Office and the Wang Center

For tickets contact Cathy at 631-444-2363 or Catherine.Gropper@stonybrook.edu