

Biography

Can Ersoy is a PhD candidate in the Department of Sociology of Stony Brook University. His major areas of interest are historical and political sociology. His research focuses on political action and creation of stable fields of power in societies that underwent severe crisis.