

Civility Scenarios

Scenario #1: Roommate Conflict

Erica and Catie have been roommates for about two months. The year started off well and the two seemed to be on the track to becoming good friends. But recently Erica had started to feel that things weren't going quite that well. Erica felt that Catie was too comfortable with the relationship borrowing her things without asking, often bringing guests back to the room without asking and sometimes making too much noise while she was sleeping. One evening Erica had had enough and she confronts Catie.

Scenario #2: Professor and Student Interaction

In a large lecture style class students are taking an exam. A student who is very frustrated and having a hard time raises concerns about the content of the exam.

Scenario #3 Group Project

Three students are working on their 101 class project together. They are brainstorming ideas about what to do. Each of them seem to have a different idea about what to do, what is appropriate and what will get them the best grade. One wants to create a video, one wants to make a powerpoint presentation, and the other one wants to act out a skit in class.

Scenario #4 Students at dinner together

Scenario #5 Cafeteria

While a student is in the cafeteria buying lunch, the cashier charges too much money and the student reacts.
