Interdisciplinary in nature, the Department of Africana Studies considers the experiences of persons of African descent throughout the world. The major in Africana Studies is designed to explore African civilizations and their influences on other parts of the Black Diaspora. Issues within the black international communities in Africa, the United States, and elsewhere are examined from both historical and contemporary perspectives. Particular attention is focused on political concepts, cultural development, legal relations, and social theories.

The major in Africana Studies provides students with a thorough background in the historical, political, social, and economic conditions of people of African descent. Because of this field's interdisciplinary approach, students are exposed to the critical contributions of scholars representing a variety of theoretical approaches and intellectual perspectives, enhancing the student's knowledge and understanding, while encouraging higher-level thinking and the ability to critically evaluate ideas and information.

Many Africana Studies majors and minors have gone on to graduate and professional schools better prepared in various disciplines and professions including law, medicine, business, engineering, nursing, social work, and education. Africana Studies courses also benefit students who go on to do graduate work in history, politics, anthropology, sociology, literature, and other fields.

3. Three credits in AFH or AFS 447 Readings in Africana Studies or AFH or AFS 487 Research in Africana Studies taken in the junior or senior year.

4. Twelve upper-division elective credits chosen from courses offered by the Department of Africana Studies. (See note 1.)

5. Upper-Division Writing Requirement
Africana Studies majors are required to submit two essay or term paper assignments, completed for two upper-division AFS courses, with grades of B or higher. They must also submit an evaluation form for the writing samples, signed by the professor(s) who read the samples, which indicates that the writing proficiency requirement has been met. Students must inform instructors in advance if they plan to use papers from their courses to fulfill the writing requirement for the major. Submitted papers must be a minimum of 15 pages in length.

Notes:
1. Three courses offered by other departments (including special topics courses) are acceptable for the major with the approval of the undergraduate studies director.

2. Students must take at least two 200-level courses in Africana Studies prior to beginning their junior year.

3. Only six credits of directed readings or independent study courses (courses numbered 447 and 487) may be used toward the major.

4. The following courses may not be used to fulfill major requirements:
   AFS 283, 475, 476, 488; AFH 475, 476.

5. Transfer students must take at least 12 credits of upper-division Africana Studies courses in residence at Stony Brook to complete the AFS major.

Requirements for the Minor in Africana Studies (AFS)
The minor in Africana Studies is intended for students interested in exploring aspects of the Black experience in ways that relate to their own major field of study. The sequence of lower- and upper-division courses gives the student a well-balanced analysis of the varied aspects of the African and African American experience. All courses offered for the minor, except those graded S/U, must be passed with a letter grade of C or higher.

Completion of the minor requires 24 credits, including 12 upper-division credits.

1. AFS 101, 102  Themes in the Black Experience I, II

2. One course from each of the following areas (see above):
   a. Africana Studies in the Humanities
   b. Africana Studies in the Social Sciences
   c. The African-American Experience
   d. The Global African Experience

3. One additional upper-division course selected from one of the areas listed in requirement 2.

4. Three credits in AFH or AFS 447 Readings in Africana Studies or AFH or AFS 487 Research in Africana Studies taken in the junior or senior year.
