ANT 102-F Introduction to Cultural Anthropology
The analysis of social and cultural topics such as kinship, family, marriage, politics, and religious systems, with an emphasis on their particular expression in non-Western societies.

ANT 104-F Introduction to Archaeology
An introduction to the study of human behavior through the analysis of material residues. Case studies illustrate how archaeologists answer research questions originating in other social sciences, natural history, or humanities disciplines, thereby creating a unique interdisciplinary and long-term perspective on human behavior. The course provides a critical perspective on recent ethical and interpretive controversies about the human past.

ANT 105 Introduction to Archaeology Lab
An optional supplement to ANT 104 exploring methods of archaeological survey, excavation, and exploratory data analysis and interpretation using computers and teaching collections in the Archaeology Teaching Laboratory.
Corrective: ANT 104
Prerequisite: ANT 102
Advisory Prerequisite: One other ANT course

ANT 200-J Contemporary and Historical Perspectives on Insular Southeast Asia
The history, politics, and cultures of Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore, the Philippines, East Timor, and Brunei. Special attention is given to the religious ideas and rituals, and relationships of power throughout the archipelago. The largest country by far in the region, Indonesia, receives most attention.
Prerequisite: ANT 102
Advisory Prerequisite: One other ANT course

ANT 201-J Peoples of South America
A survey of the social, cultural, and historical aspects of South American native peoples. Attention is given to issues of demography and biology, ecology, and cultural evolution. In-depth study of selected cultures and comparative study in selected cultural topics form the core of the course. Particular emphasis is given to topics of culture contact, culture change, tribal cultures in a context of national development, and cultural pluralism.
Advisory Prerequisite: ANT 102

ANT 203-J Native Peoples of North America
The various peoples and cultures of North America are studied with respect to their political, educational, linguistic, social, and cultural patterns. Selected societies are studied in depth.
Advisory Prerequisite: ANT 102
Prerequisite: One other ANT course

ANT 230-J Peoples of the World
A comparative study of the lifeways of selected types of peoples, defined by adaptation, focusing on their ecology, economy, political organization, and social organization. Recent changes brought about by technological developments and intercultural contact are discussed.
Prerequisite: ANT 102

ANT 250-J African Peoples and Cultures
The prehistoric cradle of humankind, Africa is today home to diverse cultures, environments, languages, and economies. Western mass media often generalizes across this immense diversity, or focuses on areas of conflict, famine, or environmental devastation. This course introduces students to Africa via the voices of Africans themselves, or those of anthropologists who have spent many years on the continent.

ANT 252-F Personality and Culture
The role of culture as a factor in personality and character formation and how different cultures handle the basic human drives, especially aggression. The course also discusses cultural influences on gender role, violence, and social control, and mental health. Case studies from South America, Oceania, Malaysia, and southern Europe are compared.
Prerequisite: U2 standing or higher
Prerequisite: ANT 104
Advisory Prerequisite: ANT 102

ANT 270-F Great Archaeological Discoveries
Recent controversies surrounding the most important social transitions in human prehistory. These include the origin of modern human societies, the rise of agrarian communities, and the formation of early states, all examined in cross-cultural perspective. Major theories and models of human social and cultural evolution are tested with evidence from the best-documented archaeological sites in Africa, Eurasia, and the Americas.
Prerequisite: U2 or higher standing
Advisory Prerequisite: ANT 104

ANT 290-H Science and Technology in Ancient Society Examination of the role of advances in science and technology in societies ranging from the earliest humans to the archaic civilizations of the Old and New Worlds. The course focuses on such innovations as tool making, fire, metallurgy, writing, mathematics, complex architecture, and relates these innovations to changes in sociopolitical organization.
Prerequisite: One D.E.C. category E course

ANT 295-H Sex and Human Nature
The study of how our evolutionary history sets the stage for human beings to evolve into social creatures. Emphasis on the biological underpinnings that shape human sex roles and the evolution of human nature. Topics include human mate choice, family formation strategies, evolution of the life span, and the capacity for cooperation and aggression.

ANT 296-J Anthropology of the European Mediterranean
This course explores the societies and cultures of the southern European countries with emphasis placed on rural/agrarian adaptations, gender relations, ritual, religion and folklore, social stratification and social class, community organization, and rural-urban distinctions. Students will read case studies from Portugal, Spain, Italy, Greece, as well as background material on the "Mediterranean" as a social and cultural construct. The monographs for this course cover mainly the post-War period, from the 1950's and up to the present, but a brief time is spent on the historical background from classical antiquity to the modern period.
Prerequisite: ANT 102
Prerequisite: ANT 102

ANT 310-J Ethnography
A particular cultural area of the world, such as sub-Saharan Africa, Oceania, Mexico and Guatemala, Asia, or the Middle East, is considered in terms of its history and ecology. A comparative analysis of the cultural systems and social arrangements of represen-ANT 363-F Archaeological Method and Theory A survey of archaeological thought from early anti-quarianism through the culture history, processual, and post-processual approaches to the investigation and analysis of past societies. Emphasis is placed on the ways in which changes in archaeological theory reflected changes in ideas within the sister fields of sociology, cultural anthropology and geography. Other topics discussed include ethnographic analogy, systems theory, site formation processes and spatial analysis.
Prerequisite: ANT 104
3 credits

ANT 364-J African Stone Age
An examination of the evidence for human behavioral and physical evolution on the African continent. The focus is on the way both early and modern hominids adapted to different habitats. Modern African environments and ecology, as well as modern hunter-gatherer peoples, are covered.
Prerequisite: ANT 104
3 credits

ANT 366-J Hunters and Gatherers Focuses on the relationship between ecology and adaptation to explore the cross-cultural diversity of hunter/gatherers. The first part of the course looks at a number of key theoretic issues and debates that surround the study of hunter/gatherers. Once this foundation is laid, students learn about modern and histori-ical hunter-gatherers from all the major geographic regions of the world. The focus of the course is both to explore hunter/gatherer variation in relationship to their environment, and to give students an appreciation of the ways in which hunter-gatherers have been historically documented.
Prerequisite: ANT 102 or 104
3 credits

ANT 367-F Male and Female A study of the manifestation of sex roles in different cultures. Discussion topics include the impact of social, economic and political organization on gender roles and relationships, sexual orientation in cross-cultural perspective, and contemporary theories of gender inequality. Readings present both the male and female viewpoints.
Prerequisite: ANT 102
3 credits

ANT 369 Paleolithic Archeology A survey of archaeological evidence human behavioral division during the Paleolithic Period, ca. 2.5 million to 10,000 years ago. This course examines early human behavior from anthropological and ecological perspectives. Major issues to be examined include the diet of eyouth African hominins, stone tool industries, disper-sals out of Africa and into Eurasia, adaptations to glacial climates, behavioral differences between Neandertals and modern humans, the origins of symbolic behavior, and hunter-gatherer precursors to agriculture.
Prerequisite: ANT 104 or ANT 120
3 credits

ANT 371-J Ancient China Explores the development of social, economic, political, and cultural systems in ancient China, from the neolithic period through the Han dynasty. Draws on archaeological data and historical texts to examine the emergence of state-level polities and their subsequent unification under imperial authority. Analytic focus is on political economy, social organization, ritual exchange, and notions of power and rulership expressed in philosophical thought. This course is offered as both AAS 371 and ANT 371.
Prerequisite: U3 or U4 standing; completion of D.E.C.
category F
3 credits

ANT 372-J Family, Marriage, and Kinship in China Examines forms and dynamics of social organizations in Chinese society, focusing on cultural, social, and economic aspects of family, marriage, and extended kinship relations such as clans, clans, and sworn brotherhoods. Particular attention is paid to how generation, generation, class, and ritual exchange shape identity, status, and power. This course is offered as both AAS 372 and ANT 372.
Prerequisite: ANT 102
Advisory Prerequisites: AAS 220 and ANT 354
3 credits

ANT 379-J Ethnicity and Ecology in China This course explores issues of ethnic and national identity in the context of the social ecology of the Chinese state, both past and present. It focuses on the material and social relationships that have shaped perceptions of, and interactions between, cultural groups in China and along its frontiers. Drawing on case studies from the Himalayan plateau, Yunnan highlands, Inner Asian steppes, Taiwan, and elsewhere, students examine how sustenance strategies, economic organization, and political administration have influenced construct of ethnic identity. This course is offered as both AAS 379 and ANT 379.
Prerequisite: U3 or U4 standing Advisory Prerequisites: AAS 220 or HIS 219 (or the former CNS 249 or 250)
3 credits

ANT 380-J Race and Ethnicity in Latin America and the Caribbean Concepts and theories of race and ethnicity in Latin American and Caribbean settings. The historical evolution and the contemporary social and cultural signif-ificance of racial and ethnic identities within the region are explored. Specific examples of social relations characterized by ethnic or racial conflict are presented. This course is offered as both APS 380 and ANT 380.
Prerequisite: U3 or U4 standing
Advisory Prerequisite: AFS 240 or LAC 200
3 credits

ANT 381-F Applied Anthropology A practical, career-oriented examination of how anthropological theory and method can be put to use in non-academic areas such as economic development, public health, environmental conservation, education, technology development, cultural advocacy, business, and law. Coordinated readings provide case illustrations.
Prerequisite: U3 or U4 standing
3 credits

ANT 382-F Human Demography
The study of human demography has had a long standing focus in anthropology, archaeology, economis, and sociology for the simple reason that the distribution and density of people fundamentally shapes many other aspects of the human condition. This course gives students an overview of population dynamics both as they change through time and differ across cultures.
Prerequisite: U3 or U4 standing; completion of D.E.C.
3 credits

ANT 385-J Prehistoric Peoples of the Americas Life in the Americas from first settlement at the end of the last ice age until the arrival of the Europeans in the 15th and 16th centuries. The culture, history, and evolution of prehistoric peoples of North, Central, and South America are treated. Specific topics covered include settlement by Native Americans, hunting-gathering lifeways, plant and animal domestication, the origins of village life, and state-level societies.
Prerequisite: ANT 104
3 credits

ANT 390-F Topics in Social and Cultural Anthropology Semester supplements to this Bulletin contain specific description when course is offered. May be repeated for credit as the topic changes.
Prerequisite: ANT 102
3 credits

ANT 391-F Topics in Social and Cultural Anthropology Semester supplements to this Bulletin contain specific description when course is offered. May be repeated
for credit as the topic changes.
Prerequisite: ANT 102
3 credits

ANT 393-F Topics in Archaeology
Topics in archaeology are taught from a social sciences perspectives. Recent topics have included: Origins of Modern Humans, Advent of the Iron Age, Oldest World Archaeology, and Ancient Egypt. Semester supplements to this Bulletin contain specific description when course is offered. May be repeated for credit as the topic changes.

Prerequisites: ANT 104 and one other anthropology course
3 credits

ANT 394-F Topics in Archaeology
Topics in archaeology are taught from a social sciences perspectives. Recent topics have included: Origin of Modern Humans, Advent of the Iron Age, Old World Archaeology, and Ancient Egypt. Semester supplements to this Bulletin contain specific description when course is offered. May be repeated for credit as the topic changes.

Prerequisites: ANT 104 and one other anthropology course
3 credits

ANT 395-J Religions of the Caribbean An ethnographic approach to the relationship among religion, social organization, and identity politics through studying cultural and historical bases of Christianity, Islam, Hinduism, and their related religious manifestations in the Caribbean. Class stratification, ethnic conflict, and fundamentalist movements are explored. This course is offered as both AFS 395 and ANT 395.

Prerequisite: U3 or U4 standing
Advisory Prerequisite: ANT 351
3 credits

ANT 401 Problems in Social and Cultural Anthropology Research and discussion of a selected topic in social and cultural anthropology. Semester supplements to this Bulletin contain specific description when course is offered. May be repeated for credit as the topic changes.

Prerequisite: ANT 102
Advisory prerequisite: Two other ANT courses at the 200 level or higher 3 credits

ANT 402 Problems in Archaeology
Research and discussion of a selected topic in the pre-history of the Old and New Worlds. Semester supplements to this Bulletin contain specific description when course is offered. May be repeated for credit as the topic changes.

Prerequisite: ANT 104
Advisory prerequisite: Two other archaeology courses
3 credits

ANT 405 Cultural Ecology
Using the model of ecological adaptation as a starting point, the course explores the impact of the natural and social environment upon human culture. By the latter is meant the way of life of a particular society: its politics, religion, ways of thought, moral standards, rituals and ceremonies, gender ideals and sex roles, and other aspects of ideology and belief. The course uses two anthropological texts that provide background concepts and terminologies, then exposes students to empirical case studies of ecological adaptation, both in pre-literate and literate societies.

Prerequisite: ANT 102
Advisory prerequisite: 200 level or higher ANT course
3 credits

ANT 417 Primitive Technology
An introduction to the technology of hunter-gatherers. The course examines how archaeologists use both ethnography and experimentation to shed light on prehistoric human technological adaptations. Techniques for making and using primitive tools are practiced in weekly laboratory sessions.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor
4 credits

ANT 418 Lithic Technology
A detailed overview of the methods archaeologists use to extract behavioral information from prehistoric stone tools. The course examines raw material economy, technological strategies, tool use, and discard behavior. Analytical methods are practiced through the computer-assisted analysis of tools from simulated archaeological sites.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor
4 credits

ANT 419 Zoorarchaeology
The study of animal bones from archaeological sites. Special emphasis is on the identification of fragmented bone and surface modification, calculation of indexes of abundance, and measurement and metrical analysis of mammal bone. Computer analysis is stressed, and the class seeks a fusion of traditional zooarchaeology and actualistic studies. Three to four hours of computer laboratory work required per week.

Prerequisites: ANT 104 or ANP 120; permission of instructor Advisory Prerequisite: One other archaeology course
3 credits

ANT 420 Environmental Analysis Using Remote Sensing and Geographic Information Systems
The use of aerial and satellite imagery in environmental analysis and the manipulation of geographic data sets of all types using Geographic Information Systems. Concentrating on Long Island, each student designs and completes a research project on a particular section of the area, focusing on the habitats of local wildlife, the locations of archaeological sites, coastal regimes, etc. Students should expect to spend approximately 10 hours per week beyond regularly scheduled classes in a university computer laboratory. This course is offered as both ANT 420 and GEO 420.

Prerequisites: ANT 102; two other ANT courses at the 200 level or higher; permission of instructor and department
3 credits

ANT 421 Environmental Analysis Using Remote Sensing and Geographic Information Systems

ANT 447 Readings in Anthropology Individual advanced readings on selected topics in anthropology. May be repeated up to a limit of 6 credits.

Prerequisites: ANT 102; two other ANT courses at the 200 level or higher; permission of instructor and department
3 credits

ANT 447 Undergraduate Teaching Practicum I
Work with a faculty member as an assistant in one of the faculty member’s regularly scheduled classes. The student is required to attend all the classes, do all the regularly assigned work and meet with the faculty member at regularly scheduled times to discuss the intellectual and pedagogical matters relating to the course. In ANT 476, students assume greater responsibility in such areas as leading discussions and analyzing results of tests that have already been graded. Students may not serve as teaching assistants in the same course twice.

Prerequisites: U3 or U4 standing; anthropology major; 3.00 g.p.a.; permission of instructor; permission of director of undergraduate studies
3 credits, S/U grading

ANT 476 Undergraduate Teaching Practicum II
Work with a faculty member as an assistant in one of the faculty member’s regularly scheduled classes. The student is required to attend all the classes, do all the regularly assigned work, and meet with the faculty member at regularly scheduled times to discuss the intellectual and pedagogical matters relating to the course. In ANT 476, students assume greater responsibility in such areas as leading discussions and analyzing results of tests that have already been graded. Students may not serve as teaching assistants in the same course twice.

Prerequisites: U3 or U4 standing; anthropology major; 3.00 g.p.a.; permission of instructor; permission of director of undergraduate studies
3 credits, S/U grading

ANT 477 Independent Research in Anthropology Independent research projects carried out by upper division students. May be repeated up to a limit of six credits.

Prerequisite: 15 credits in anthropology; permission of instructor and department
6 credits, S/U grading

ANT 488 Internship
Participation in local, state, and national public and private agencies and organizations. Students are required to submit written progress reports and a final written report on their experiences to the faculty sponsor and the department. May be repeated up to a limit of 12 credits.

Prerequisite: 15 credits in anthropology; permission of instructor and department
6-12 credits, S/U grading

ANT 495 Senior Honors Project in Anthropology
First course of a two-semester project for anthropology majors who are candidates for the degree with honors. Arranged in consultation with the department through the director of undergraduate studies, the project involves independent readings or research and the writing of a paper under the close supervision of an appropriate faculty member on a suitable topic selected by the student. Students enrolled in ANT 495 are obliged to complete ANT 496 the following semester. Students receive only one grade upon completion of the sequence.

Prerequisite: Admission to the anthropology honors program
3 credits

ANT 496 Senior Honors Project in Anthropology
Second course of a two-semester project for anthropology majors who are candidates for the degree with honors. Arranged in consultation with the department through the director of undergraduate studies, the project involves independent readings or research and the writing of a paper under the close supervision of an appropriate faculty member on a suitable topic selected by the student. Students receive only one grade upon completion of the sequence.

Prerequisite: ANT 495; admission to the anthropology honors program
3 credits
