JANE FONDA

Jane Fonda’s work on stage and screen has earned numerous nominations and awards, including two Oscars, an Emmy and a Life Achievement Award from the American Film Institute in 2014. Jane has long been known for activism and advocacy on environmental issues, peace and the empowerment of women and girls. Much of her work is devoted to the program she founded in 1995, the Georgia Campaign for Adolescent Power and Potential. She also serves on the boards of the Women’s Media Center, V-Day: Until the Violence Stops, a global effort to stop violence against women and girls, and Stony Brook University’s Center for the Study of Men and Masculinities.

ABOUT THE CENTER FOR THE STUDY OF MEN AND MASCULINITIES

Established in 2013, the Center for the Study of Men and Masculinities is dedicated to engaged, interdisciplinary research on boys, men, masculinities and gender. It supports and promotes research that furthers the development of boys and men in the service of healthy masculinities and greater gender equality. The Center’s mission is to bring together researchers, practitioners and activists to develop and enhance policy initiatives and advocacy projects focusing on boys and men with the goal of generating and disseminating research that redefines gender relations to foster greater social justice.
