Courses offered by the Department of English seek to develop students' understanding of important works of literature written in English, to provide a historical awareness of the range of thought and experience that has found expression in the English language, and to enlarge students’ personal horizons by reflection upon cultural, social, and aesthetic experience. The development of this kind of knowledge also means a development of students’ abilities to express themselves effectively in speech and in writing. Courses in English instruct students in becoming more observant, thoughtful, and articulate in response to what they read.

Students who graduate with a major in English pursue careers as writers, lawyers, journalists, librarians, academic and governmental administrators, and publishers, to name a few. Large businesses, for example, publish “in-house” newsletters and magazines, as well as material for the general public. Newspapers seek copy editors able to write clear, accurate prose. The legal profession requires people skilled in the language arts. Many English majors go on to graduate or professional schools to educate themselves for professional careers.

The Department regularly offers courses in creative writing (EGL 285, 286, 385, 386, 387); journalism (JRN 287, 288, 387, 388, 389, 390, 394, 395), see the Journalism entry in the alphabetical listings of Approved Majors, Minors, and Programs; and secondary education leading to provisional New York State certification (EGL 398, 451, 452, 454).

B. Study in Related Areas

1. Foreign Language Requirement:
   Six credits, or the equivalent of one year, of college study at the intermediate level, or one semester of study at the advanced level; or a passing grade on a challenge examination (see page 80 of this Bulletin) in the chosen language.

   All coursework taken to satisfy this requirement must be passed with a letter grade of C- or higher to count towards the English major.

2. Six credits of study of history at the 200-level or higher.

3. Six credits of study in the humanities and fine arts (excluding English courses) and in addition to the foreign language requirement above.

Notes:

1. All coursework taken to satisfy this requirement must be passed with a letter grade of C- or higher to count towards the English major.

2. Six of the twelve credits used to satisfy Requirements 2 and 3 may be taken under the P/NC option unless they also are being used to satisfy general education requirements.

3. Only six of the twelve credits used to satisfy Requirements 2 and 3 may be passed with grades below C-.

C. Upper-Division Writing Requirement

In the semester preceding the semester in which the student expects to graduate, he or she shall submit to the director of undergraduate studies two papers, each written for a different instructor in an upper-division English course, together with the instructor's written confirmation that the paper demonstrates suitably advanced writing proficiency. The Departmental course descriptions for the forthcoming semester regularly specify those courses in which students may satisfy this requirement. The student must notify the instructor before the paper is turned in to him or her that it is intended to satisfy this requirement in addition to the course requirements. A student anticipating or experiencing difficulty in satisfying this requirement should seek the advice of the director of undergraduate studies no later than the beginning of the semester before the one in which the student expects to graduate.

Requirements for the Minor in English (EGL)

The minor in English allows students to pursue, within a framework of general requirements, their specific interests in one of three areas: British literature, American literature, or 20th-century literature. Each student's particular choice of courses within these three options must be determined in consultation with the director of undergraduate studies.

All courses offered for the minor must be taken for a letter grade.

A. Courses required of all minors:
   - EGL 204 Literary Analysis and Argumentation
   - Shakespeare: EGL 243 or 345 or 346
   - One elective from EGL 300-496, exclusive of 385, 386, 387, 440, 441, 451, 452, 454, and JRN courses

B. One of the following options:

1. Emphasis on British literature:
   - One survey course appropriate to the student's interest: EGL 205 or 206 or 224
   - One course in a period of British literature: EGL 300-314
   - One course in a genre or major author in British literature: EGL 340-349, 352, 361-364

2. Emphasis on American literature:
   - One survey course appropriate to the student's interest: EGL 217 or 218 or 226
   - One course in a period of American literature: EGL 300-314
   - One course in a genre or major author in American literature: EGL 350 or 352, or 361-364

3. Emphasis on 20th-century literature:
   - One survey course appropriate to the student's interest: EGL 224 or 226
   - One course in the study of 20th-century literature: EGL 320, 321, 322 or 352
   - One course in the study of a genre treating 20th-century writers: EGL 361-364
