The Department of European Languages, Literatures, and Cultures fosters research and teaching in modern and classical European languages, literatures, and cultures at the undergraduate and graduate levels, in native languages and in translation. The Department prepares students for professional training, graduate study, and for a global market in which knowledge of other languages and cultures is increasingly essential.

LANGUAGES

- French
- German
- Greek
- Italian
- Latin
- Russian

SKILLS YOU’LL ACQUIRE

- Critical and analytical thinking skills
- Conversational skills
- Cultural awareness
- Writing skills
- Public speaking, presentation and didactic skills
- Interpretive skills
- Linguistic skills
- Rhetorical skills

For more information, visit stonybrook.edu/eurolangs/
A SAMPLING OF OUR COURSES

The Department of European Languages, Literatures, and Cultures offers a wide variety of courses. Examples from past semesters include:

• Contemporary Italy
• Crime and Punishment in World Literature
• French Cinema
• Greek and Latin Literature

Claire Garfield '20, Biology major and French minor, was awarded the Barry Goldwater Fellowship, the DAAD-Rise Fellowship, and the prestigious and highly competitive Marshall Scholarship.

CAREERS TO EXPLORE

You’ll gain the knowledge and skills to work in many different professions, including:

• Advocacy
• Business
• Foreign Language Education
• Government Services
• International Relations