Course Description
The Stony Brook University AFS 283 Community Outreach Mentoring Program, in partnership with Tri Community and Youth Agency, is a 3 credit mentoring program designed to provide academic support and guidance for “at risk” students from underserved neighborhoods, through group discussions, classroom instruction, guest speakers, and one-on-one mentoring sessions. Through field experience, readings, research, and discussion, students focus on social and educational problems relating primarily to the African-American and Latinx experience. Tri-Community students travel by bus to Stony Brook.

The program at Stony Brook is a simple introduction to what a college campus is or can be. High school/ middle school students visit Stony Brook, have a tour, meet professors, see students who are (and are not) like them, see professors who are like them, and develop a level of comfort and exposure to college. Mentors (Stony Brook students, faculty, and staff) will provide knowledge, guidance, and support through group discussions, classroom instruction, and one-on-one mentoring sessions.

GOALS
1. Productive bi-monthly meetings with students.
2. Create stimulating programming to hold student interest.
3. Make meaningful connections with students.
4. Provide ample opportunities for the students to gain knowledge about the college experience at SBU and elsewhere.
5. (Fill in the blank) What are your goals for this experience? (Answer in your journal).
