

Department of Writing and Rhetoric

We Offer Minors that Complement Every Major!

Choose Your Minor:

- Writing and Rhetoric (18 credits):
WRT 102 Intermediate Writing Workshop,
plus five (5) electives
- Professional Writing (21 credits):
WRT 102 Intermediate Writing Workshop,
plus three (3) required courses and three
(3) electives

Some of Our Courses:

- WRT 200: The Rhetoric of Grammar and Style SBCs: ESI, HUM
- WRT 302: Special Topics in Critical Writing: writing-intensive seminar with rotating topics
- WRT 307: Rhetoric of Science, Technology, and Medicine SBCs: ESI, HUM
- WRT 319: Nonprofit Business Writing SBCs: HUM, SPK, EXP+
- WRT 321: Rhetoric of Social Movements SBCs: CER, DIV, HUM
- WRT 377: Special Topics in Digital Writing: writing-intensive seminar with rotating topics
- WRT 380: Advanced Research Writing: Theories, Methods, Practices SBC: ESI
- WRT 381: Advanced Analytic and Argumentative Writing SBC: ESI
- WRT 382: Grant Writing SBC: ESI

Morgan Diep '25
Health Science with a concentration in
Disability Studies and Human Development
Minors in Biology and Writing and Rhetoric

"The Department of Writing and Rhetoric has allowed me the opportunity to strengthen my abilities as a writer in various genres. It was through the department that I was able to learn to effectively convey my ideas and thoughts, while also pursuing professional opportunities as a Writing Center tutor.

The minor is one that can supplement virtually any field, as the skill of writing is truly applicable and transferable. As someone who wants to work in healthcare, the Department of Writing and Rhetoric has been immensely useful in my major courses in health literacy and research."

Ask about for-credit
internships,
both on and off
campus!

Write
•
Research
•
Succeed

Visit our website:

Contact us:
writingdepartment@stonybrook.edu or call 631-632-7390

@SBUArtsSciences