The Stony Brook Volunteer Ambulance Corps (SBVAC) Alumni Endowed Scholarship Application

The Stony Brook Volunteer Ambulance Corps Alumni Endowed Scholarship will provide support for students who serve as officers and members of the Stony Brook Volunteer Ambulance Corps.

To express appreciation, alumnus Joshua Moskovitz '02 and a group of other alumni and friends of the SBVAC seek to establish an endowed scholarship to benefit the students who volunteer their time to serve the university community as members and officers of the SBVAC. Josh was a member of the SBVAC when he was an undergraduate student at SBU and credits the experience as one of the most valuable and memorable in his college years. The experience inspired him to pursue a career in business and management development as well as Emergency Medicine.

Individuals eligible for the this scholarship must be enrolled as a full-time undergraduate or graduate student in good academic standing as defined by Stony Brook University policy. Students must also be an active member of the SBVAC who is in good standing and has passed probationary status.
