

Frida Kahlo. Photo (detail) by Nickolas Murray, 1939

...THINKING IN / ABOUT SPANISH ?

The Department of Hispanic Languages and Literature offers a comprehensive education in the Spanish language and the vibrant cultures of Latin America, Spain and the Hispanic/Latino communities of the United States. Because so many facets of American life —education, research, business, industry, commerce, communications media, the arts, science, and technology— have become international in scope, and truly bilingual, many career opportunities exist for those with solid language skills and deep knowledge of other cultures.

Join our Department and become an active member of a diverse, international and exciting community at Stony Brook!

MAJOR IN SPANISH	12 courses at the 300/400 level
DOUBLE MAJOR*	10 courses at the 300/400 level
MINOR IN SPANISH	6 courses at the 300/400 level

Combine your BA in Spanish with a Teaching Certificate

*Double majors combine Spanish with any other major:
Biology, Business, English, Journalism, Math, etc , etc !

For more information on Spanish courses, visit our website
<http://www.stonybrook.edu/hispanic/> or email the director of undergraduate studies
paul.firbas@stonybrook.edu

¿ CÓMO TE LLAMAS ?

Stony Brook University

NEW LOCATION!
Dept Office: Humanities 1055

