We are pleased to inform you that the Italian Studies Program at Stony Brook University is now accepting applications to the MA program for the 2021/2022 academic year.

Highlights

- 2-year program (30 credits).
- Network of high qualified international professors with a low student-faculty ratio.
- Diverse student body including native and non-native Italian speakers.
- An innovative and interdisciplinary approach to Italian culture.
- Teaching Fellowships available with full tuition remission, a stipend, and Health Insurance coverage.
- University Scholarships and opportunities to study abroad and write the dissertation abroad.
- Strong preparation for a Ph.D., alternative academic career, and second language teaching.
- Take part in the editorial work process in the academic journal, Forum Italicum.
- To contribute and organize conferences, film festivals, and many other events.

Faculty

Giuseppe Gazzola
Ph.D. Yale
Professor of Italian, Italian Graduate Program Coordinator.

Irene Marchegiani
Doctorate Università di Firenze, IT
Senior Lecturer, Italian Language Coordinator.

Loredana Polezzi
Ph.D. University of Warwick, UK
Professor of Italian, D’Amato Chair in Italian American Studies.

INFO https://www.stonybrook.edu/commcms/eurlangs/programs/Graduate.php
CONTACT Giuseppe Gazzola: giuspepe.gazzola@stonybrook.edu