LACS GRADUATE STUDENT RESEARCH FELLOWSHIPS

2022 LACS SUMMER FELLOWS

Nicolás Andrés Barrientos
Department of History
"New Right, Aesthetics, and Global Sixties: The Case of Patria y Libertad in Chile"

Isabella Betancourt Salcedo
Marine Conservation and Policy Program
"Effects of Increasing Temperatures on Hatching Success in Sea Turtles in Costa Rica"

Adrián Márquez
Department of History
"Risky Business: From Places of Vice to Illicit Networks in the South Atlantic and Caribbean, 1919-1965"

Daniel Menzo
Graduate Program in Art History & Criticism
"Ambiguous Traces: Visualizing Queerness in Benjamín de la Calle’s Photo Studio Portraits"

Paulo Acácio Soares
Department of Hispanic Languages and Literature
“The Aesthetics of Coldness Regarding the self elaboration of the Southern Mesopotamia”