Additionally, we want to welcome our incoming graduate students who have chosen to seek out their MFA in Film or First, we want to extend an enormous, heartfelt congratulations to our graduates! A graduation ceremony will be Crooks led them through first and last drafts of features, Karen Offitzer trained them how to excited for Fall 2021. Read all about this and more below!}

The film is called Survival of the Fittest, and revolves around ghosting and loneliness within the pandemic. Edward's film, First-year student Micah Demby, shot this short film in Dallas, Fort Worth, and Austin, using a single lens (35mm) and an Easy Rig.

Graduation, New Class, and Scholarships Awards

Spring Productions

End of Year Reflections

Additionally, our first-year student, Malick Dassah and Edward Kallon both completed shooting their first-year projects in early 2021. Both projects, which were shot remotely due to COVID, were made possible through the hard work and dedication of our faculty, staff and crew. These productions are a testament to the resilience of our students and the dedication of our faculty, who ensured that our program could continue to thrive despite the challenges of the pandemic. The films produced by our students are not only a testament to their hard work and dedication, but also a reflection of the creativity and talent of our students. We are proud to announce that our first-year student, Malick Dassah, has been awarded the Annual Spring Production Award for his film, Survival of the Fittest.

Additionally, our first-year student, Malick Dassah and Edward Kallon both completed shooting their first-year projects in early 2021. Both projects, which were shot remotely due to COVID, were made possible through the hard work and dedication of our faculty, staff and crew. These productions are a testament to the resilience of our students and the dedication of our faculty, who ensured that our program could continue to thrive despite the challenges of the pandemic. The films produced by our students are not only a testament to their hard work and dedication, but also a reflection of the creativity and talent of our students. We are proud to announce that our first-year student, Malick Dassah, has been awarded the Annual Spring Production Award for his film, Survival of the Fittest.

Additionally, our first-year student, Malick Dassah and Edward Kallon both completed shooting their first-year projects in early 2021. Both projects, which were shot remotely due to COVID, were made possible through the hard work and dedication of our faculty, staff and crew. These productions are a testament to the resilience of our students and the dedication of our faculty, who ensured that our program could continue to thrive despite the challenges of the pandemic. The films produced by our students are not only a testament to their hard work and dedication, but also a reflection of the creativity and talent of our students. We are proud to announce that our first-year student, Malick Dassah, has been awarded the Annual Spring Production Award for his film, Survival of the Fittest.

Additionally, our first-year student, Malick Dassah and Edward Kallon both completed shooting their first-year projects in early 2021. Both projects, which were shot remotely due to COVID, were made possible through the hard work and dedication of our faculty, staff and crew. These productions are a testament to the resilience of our students and the dedication of our faculty, who ensured that our program could continue to thrive despite the challenges of the pandemic. The films produced by our students are not only a testament to their hard work and dedication, but also a reflection of the creativity and talent of our students. We are proud to announce that our first-year student, Malick Dassah, has been awarded the Annual Spring Production Award for his film, Survival of the Fittest.

Additionally, our first-year student, Malick Dassah and Edward Kallon both completed shooting their first-year projects in early 2021. Both projects, which were shot remotely due to COVID, were made possible through the hard work and dedication of our faculty, staff and crew. These productions are a testament to the resilience of our students and the dedication of our faculty, who ensured that our program could continue to thrive despite the challenges of the pandemic. The films produced by our students are not only a testament to their hard work and dedication, but also a reflection of the creativity and talent of our students. We are proud to announce that our first-year student, Malick Dassah, has been awarded the Annual Spring Production Award for his film, Survival of the Fittest.

Additionally, our first-year student, Malick Dassah and Edward Kallon both completed shooting their first-year projects in early 2021. Both projects, which were shot remotely due to COVID, were made possible through the hard work and dedication of our faculty, staff and crew. These productions are a testament to the resilience of our students and the dedication of our faculty, who ensured that our program could continue to thrive despite the challenges of the pandemic. The films produced by our students are not only a testament to their hard work and dedication, but also a reflection of the creativity and talent of our students. We are proud to announce that our first-year student, Malick Dassah, has been awarded the Annual Spring Production Award for his film, Survival of the Fittest.