MIC Receives New Donations from SBU Alumni

The Center for Multilingual and Intercultural Communication (MIC) has received two generous donations during Fall 2020.

One of the generous donations comes from Mr. Yunpeng Ding, who received a combined MS/BS degree in Applied Mathematics and Statistics & Computer Science from Stony Brook University and who is currently Founder and CEO of Golff. This is the second generous gift which we have received from Mr. Ding in the last two years. Mr. Ding's gift will enable us to provide scholarships to local school teachers who wish to attend the MIC Workshop Series on Language and Social Justice and receive credits toward professional development.

The other donation comes from The Hon. Brad J. Reid, who received his BA in History with a minor in China Studies from Stony Brook University and who currently serves as State Committee Member and District Leader for the 41st Assembly District as well as Assistant Deputy Director for the Infrastructure Division of the New York City Council. Mr. Reid has been a longtime supporter of MIC.

We are deeply appreciative of the two gifts of support this year, especially in these very challenging times. These generous gifts will go a long way to helping us fulfill our mission in research and outreach in multilingual and intercultural communication, on Stony Brook campus and far beyond.
