Graduate TAs and Postdocs: Join CELT's Online Teaching Certificate (OTC) Workshop

Whether you are teaching online now or will in your future career, take advantage of this opportunity to explore online course development and practical strategies for teaching online, engage in discussion with your peers, and earn an online teaching certificate!

This 2.5-week online accelerated course will provide you with basic pedagogical, research-based practices specific to the online space and will assist you in planning instructional activities for an online course. This course will be delivered asynchronously with one optional synchronous session. There are four content areas or modules in the course, which each lasts 2-3 days. In the modules you will find readings, videos, and additional resources, as well as discussions or assignments to complete. If you earn 85 course points, you will receive an online teaching certificate.

When: April 14th-30th, 2021
Where: Blackboard, asynchronous
