

CREATE

flm_undergrad@stonybrook.edu

WOLFIE FILMMAKERS & TV WRITERS...

- Henna Jeong '28 -

Presented her first documentary during Banned Book Week - (Un)Banning Toni Morrison - a short documentary featuring Stony Brook English majors talking about reading Toni Morrison's most banned novel, The Bluest Eye (1970).

- Maddie Bini '25 -

While working on PBS's In Her Nature docu-series, Maddie has been assisting producer Katie Schuler with Season 2 pre-production, as well as co-writing a script for Schuler's upcoming documentary that is six years in the making.

- Kai Luckey '25 -

Currently doing a festival run for his new film, I Wish My Bones Were Unidentifiable. Catch it at the Long Island Youth Film Festival November 7-9th.

- David Wiafe '25 -

Interning at COUNTERPART STUDIOS. Working rotations as a Production Asst. and assisting in Development.

- Joelis Rodriguez Torres '24 -

Has been interning with RAMFIS PRODUCTIONS, in Development. Writing coverage, giving feedback on edits, handling social media, reaching out to industry professionals and then leading industry meetings between them and the rest of the intern team.

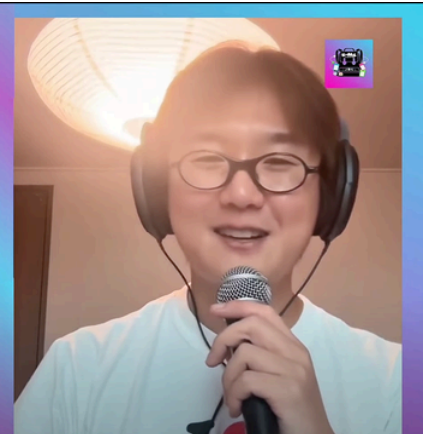

PODCASTING STUDENT INTERVIEWS JOHN CHA OF WAVE TO EARTH

Angel Polito '25 creator of the K-ALL Podcast

Potatoi (John Cha), bassist of Wave to Earth, talks solo debut with his EP "Toy," the story behind his heartfelt wedding song "SHE WANNA BLUE," and its creative music video.

He also shares his vlogging strategy, upcoming solo album plans, and Wave to Earth's path to global recognition.

Get an exclusive look behind the scenes as Potatoi shares how he performed "SHE WANNA BLUE" at his own wedding with his Wave to Earth bandmates, overcoming rainy day challenges for a truly miraculous ceremony. Don't miss Potatoi's FIRST-EVER English solo interview!

K-ALL is the podcast that connects fans to the full spectrum of Korean music, from K-Pop hits to indie gems.

Hosted by K-music expert Angel, each episode features lively conversations with artists, insiders, and fans worldwide.

Whether you're a longtime K-Pop stan or new to Korean music, K-ALL is your interactive hub for music news, behind-the-scenes stories, and thoughtful interviews that celebrate Korean artistry and connect the global fandom. Join the discussion and discover the music that moves us all. Click on icon for links to Angel's Podcast and Instagram.

SCIENCE+CINEMA

SILENCE OF THE LAMBS

Screen the film and stay for an exciting Q&A about forensic science led by SBU Professor from Dept of Clinical Laboratory Sciences, Jeannie Guglielmo, who worked at the Suffolk County Crime Lab in Hauppauge, NY.

- Monday, October 20
- 5:45pm
- Tabler Black Box 110
- Pizza and Drinks

NEW THIS FALL

Join FLM-TVW & SBU-TV FILM PRODUCTIONS CLUB as we sit back and enjoy a popular television series pilot episode!

- Nov 18th and Dec 2nd
- 6PM
- SAC 307 - Media Suite
- Pizza and Drinks

CREATE

MOVE THAT CAMERA

CREATE WORKSHOP with
Tim O'Connor

Learn about the power of camera movement and how to create meaning with different camera moves. This is a hands-on camera workshop.

- Monday, November 10
- 12:30pm
- Melville N3045
- Pizza and Drinks

OPEN CLASSROOM

OCTOBER 22 - Melville N3045 - 5:00pm

Anyone interested in attending an indie filmmaking talk as part of Amy Gaipa's class on Wednesday, October 22 at 5pm, is welcome to attend!

Great for all levels of filmmaking from FLM 101 to future FLM 402 Capstone students. One of the films to be screened was a Capstone project Spring '25.

The filmmakers of CIN 114 will be in attendance to screen and discuss their process, work and collaboration! Join us!

FLM 304 ADVANCED PODCASTING

SPRING 2026 - Mondays 2:00pm-4:00pm SBC TECH

There are reasons podcasts are so popular. Listening as you go about your day is like having a companion or friend along for the ride. It's a personalized way to learn something or be entertained on your schedule. Plus, anyone can produce and distribute a podcast; most are free to listen to.

It takes a lot of work to create a podcast that sounds completely natural. In this hands-on, advanced course, you will work in pairs to develop a podcast concept from idea to launch.

By the end of the course, you will produce a completed pilot episode of your podcast (approximately 30 minutes) and prepare a digital marketing plan for the launch. The class will conclude with short presentations by each pair about their podcast. Additionally, we'll have some guest speakers to offer their experience and perspectives on the industry.

WOLFIE FILMMAKERS & TV WRITERS...

• Guneet Singh '19 - was admitted into the Writer's Guild of America for her work researching and writing segments of Food Network's The Kitchen, a cooking themed talk show which features four to six new recipes per episode.

"I'm honored to share that I'm officially a member of the Writers Guild of America!!! I've been wanting to be a part of the WGA for years, even more so during the 2023 strikes when I witnessed @wgaeast's incredible leadership and the power of solidarity firsthand 🙌❤️"

CONGRATULATIONS, Guneet!

