CAR 510: Career Planning
This course provides graduate students with in-depth examination of the essential components of the career development process, including contemporary theories of career decision making, job market intelligence, networking, and professional branding. Students will learn about the career readiness competencies employers require, and refine their leadership skills through a semester-long experiential mentoring project. By the end of the course students will have a professional portfolio to showcase their abilities and accomplishments. 0-1 credits.