CAR
Career Development

CAR 551: Career & Life Design For Grad Students

Created specifically for graduate students pursuing alt-ac career options, this accelerated course takes you through the four stages of career development using the design-thinking process. Starting with an assessment of where you are now in your career thinking, your workview/life view, values and strengths, you will engage in a series of discussions, personal reflections, and ideations to prototype and prepare to pursue career options.

0-1 credits.